Alison Who Never Answers
by Robert Priest and Allen Booth

What's that sweet music in the air?
All those angelic harmonies
How do the lonely find the lonely?
What brings the mighty to their knees?
How come so many have such faith
In dreamers and romancers?
I keep asking on and on
I keep asking Alison
Alison... who never answers

Why is the sky a purple fire
When falling stars light up our eyes?
What makes the shadows grow so long?
Who tells on who tells pretty lies
Like you love me and me a lone?
What powers have enchanters?
Why am I asking on and on?
Why am I asking Alison?
Alison... who never answers

Because because because... she's some kind of a whiz
Because because because... she isn't what she is

Why am I asking on and on?
Why am I asking Alison?
Alison... who never answers

How do the loveless learn to kiss
The ginger sunrise from the east?
Where do they find their one and only?
What is the most love one can give
When one receives the least?
How can I be one with the dancers?
Why am I asking on and on?
Why am I asking Alison?
Alison.... who never answers
Alison.... who never answers

Alison.... who never answers
